

Provident CRM is Now a Make Partner, to Help You Build and Automate ANYTHING

We're excited to announce that Provident CRM partnered with Make, a platform that covers all your integration and automation needs (and much more). Its ease of use, speed, and power mean we're all set to deliver once-complex customisations rapidly and simply. That's great for us, because it's great for our clients.

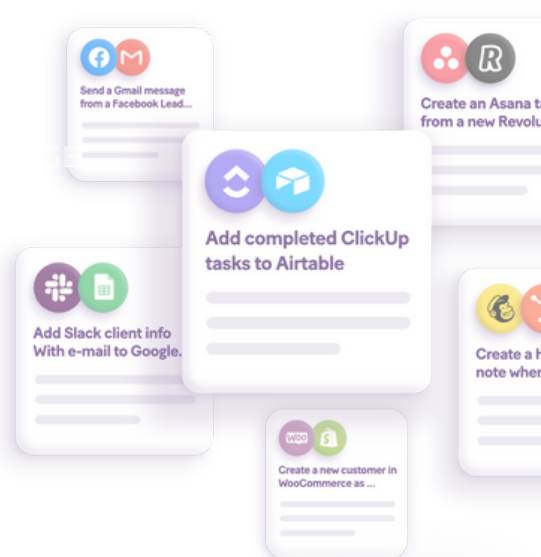

Introducing Make: A powerful application for simplifying and streamlining your business processes

Make is a no-code/low-code business integration and automation platform that's compatible with any software your business uses now, or will use in future. Its capabilities are pretty much infinite!

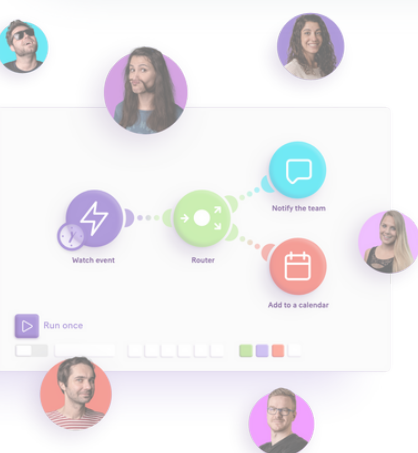

Integrate anything

Make is a smart, powerful, straightforward add-on that integrates and automates a near-limitless range of software, including our partner solutions monday.com, HubSpot, SugarCRM and Salesforce – to create a single source of truth.

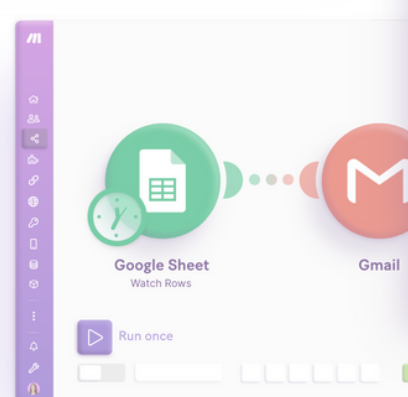

Automations made easy

Make's flexibility lets us design simpler integrations and automations much faster. Create clear, visual workflows that are easy to set up and adjust with no coding or software developing knowledge required.

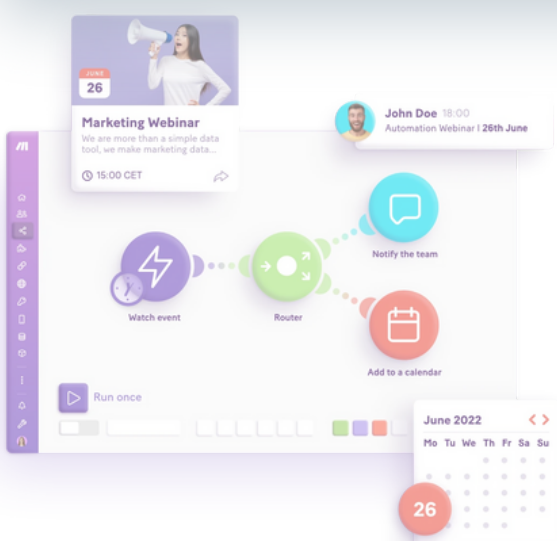

Work smarter

Make is no-code/low-code, meaning its platform is clear and easy to use and adjust without risking anything breaking. With Make, only pay for what you need, and take confident ownership of your new-and-improved integrations.

Seamless roll-outs

Make's blueprint option lets you build solutions for clients in your own Make system, test them, and simply transfer them to the client's system. It's a simple export, which means consistent tried-and-tested integrations and automations for your clients.

We're the only Make partners in Ireland

Our experts are ready to put their accreditations with Make to work for clients new and long-standing. As with all our partner solutions, our team's continually working to make sure we know the latest ins, outs, and ways in which it can make your daily work smoother.
